Basic Crafts Workers’ Compensation Program

HOW IT WORKS
Each Collectively Bargained Workers’ Compensation (CBWC) program is unique in certain ways. However, all contain the same basic components that form the basis of their operation and success. These include the following:

Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR)
Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) expedites the resolution of disputed claims by replacing the jurisdiction of the Workers’ Compensation Appeals Board with a highly streamlined process. With ADR, all disputed claims are subject to a simple, three-step process.

1. Ombudsman. An impartial liaison between the injured worker and the insurance company, the ombudsman works in an informal and proactive way to resolve all claims issues quickly and fairly. Over 90 percent of all disputes are resolved at this step of the process.

2. Mediation. If the ombudsman can’t resolve the dispute and the injured worker seeks further redress, a mediation session is scheduled, and a mediator is assigned to the matter.

3. Arbitration. When the matter can’t be resolved through mediation, a formal arbitration session may be scheduled with an arbitrator assigned to hear the case and render a final decision.

The efficient process minimizes the need for costly legal representation. With specific time frames given to each step, this process ensures that the disputed claims are settled as fairly and effectively as possible.

Exclusive Medical Provider Networks
Selected by labor and management, each CBWC program has a designated, exclusive network of medical providers from which injured workers must obtain medical treatment. The use of the networks ensures that appropriate, quality medical care is always available without delay.

Joint Labor/Management Safety Initiatives
Because workplace safety activities significantly cut down on injuries and resulting claims, labor and management work closely together to develop safety standards and promote safety initiatives. The CBWC program provides an effective platform for delivering these to all participants and works in tandem with the loss control services offered by the insurance carrier.

Joint Labor/Management Oversight
Every CBWC program is the creation of labor and management, and oversees and controls its operation. To ensure that the needs of its members are being met and that operational quality is maintained, a labor/management oversight body is responsible for all aspects of the program, including:
Benefits on Both Sides
CBWC delivers significant benefits to all parties involved.

For Union Members
